Your Role as a P&C Buddy

P&C People Skills · Course 1 · Week 1 · Script + storyboard for review

Style: LearnFree-style flat motion graphics (cream / teal / mustard, bold slab titles, flat icons and figures), modelled on “Hard Skills vs Soft Skills”. Spoken to the viewer as “you”, with no Ali storyline.
Length: 22 beats · 304 words · about 1.9–2.3 min plus the Taleemabad intro and outro
Learning goals:

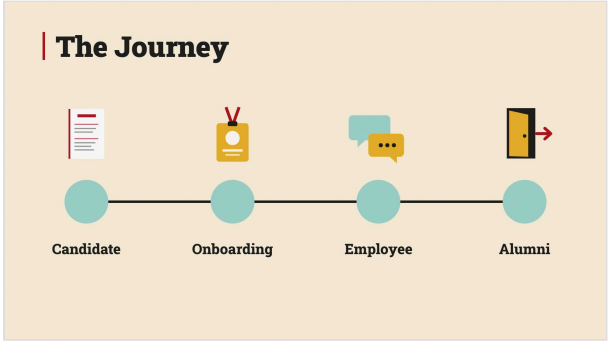

- Explain your role at each stage: candidate, onboarding, employee, alumni (beats 02–06)
- Care for the person while staying fair to the organisation (07–10)
- Tell supporting from rescuing (11–16, checkpoint)
- Recognise that every interaction shapes how someone sees the company (20–22)

Cost to finish: voiceover only (Gemini TTS, a few cents). No image generation and no AI video.
Storyboard frames are taken from the real renderer on estimated timings. In the final video, each element animates in as it is spoken.

Beat 01 · IfTitle

“You are a P&C Buddy, and that role is bigger than it first looks.”

Beat 02 · IfJourney

“You are with people from the day they apply until long after they leave.”

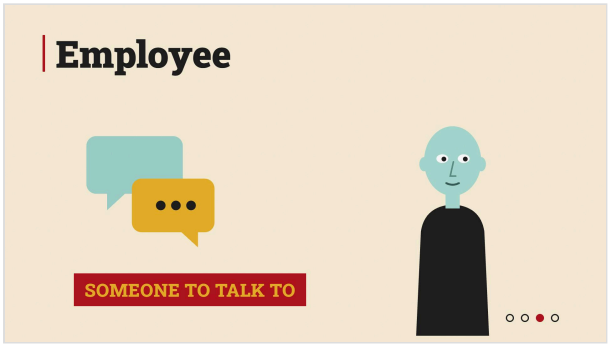

Beat 03 · IfStage

“When someone is a candidate, you are often the first person from the company they talk to.”

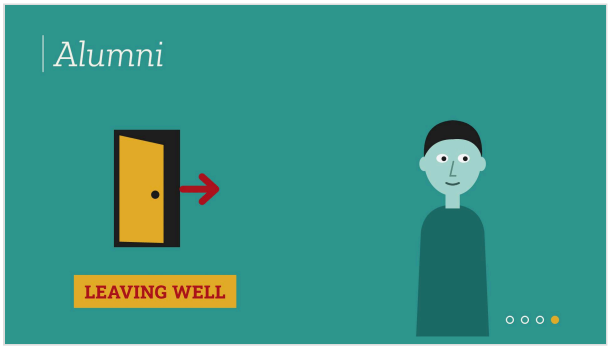

Beat 04 · IfStage

“In onboarding, you help a nervous new joiner find their feet and feel they belong.”

Beat 05 · IfStage

“While they work here, you are the person they come to when something is not right.”

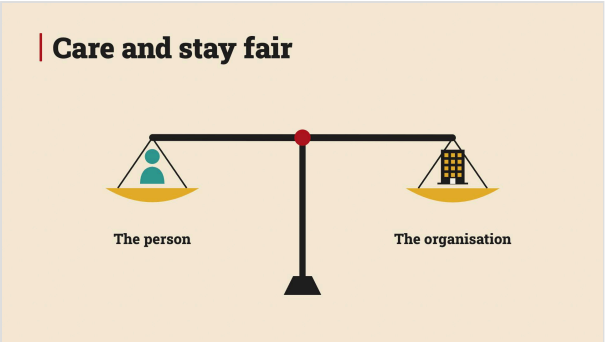

Beat 06 · IfStage

“And when they leave, you help them go with respect, because alumni still talk about us.”

Beat 07 · IfTitle

“So what is the thinking behind all of this work?”

Beat 08 · IfScale

“You care for the person, and you stay fair to the organisation, both at the same time.”

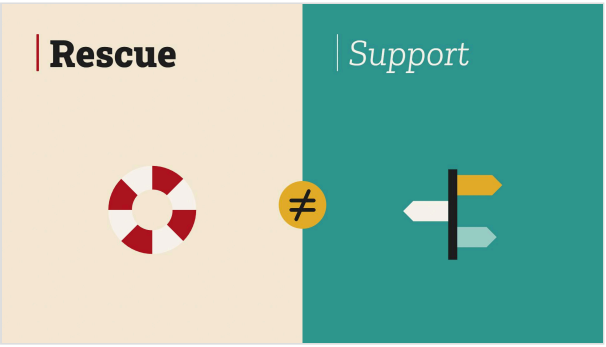

Beat 09 · IfScale

“Lean only toward the person, and you end up taking sides.”

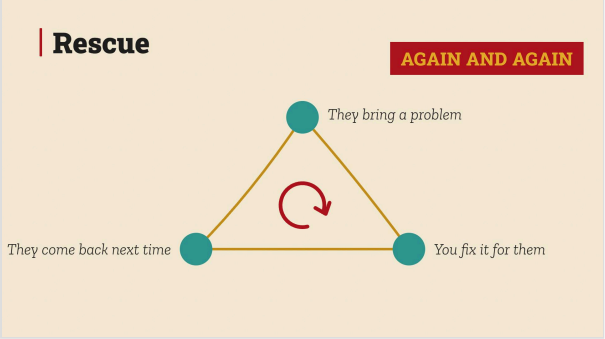

Beat 10 · IfScale

“Lean only toward the company, and people stop telling you the truth.”

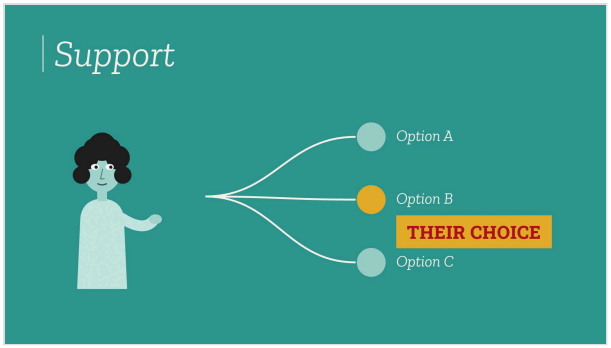

Beat 11 · IfVersus

“There is one more line to hold: supporting someone is not the same as rescuing them.”

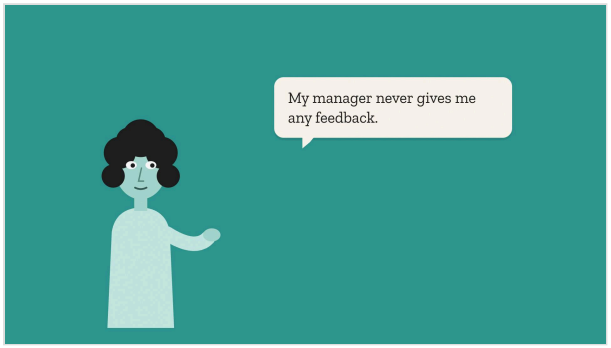

Beat 12 · IfLoop

“Rescuing means you fix the problem for them, so next time they need you again.”

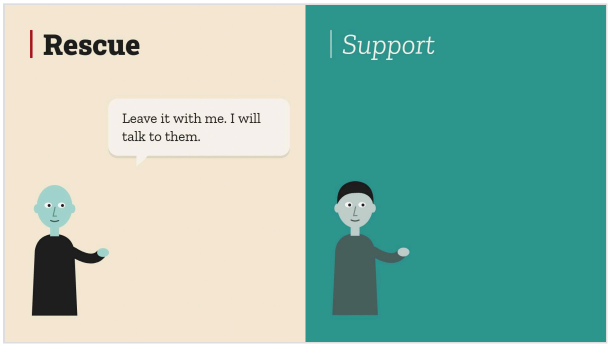

Beat 13 · IfOptions

“Supporting means you help them see their options, and they choose the next step.”

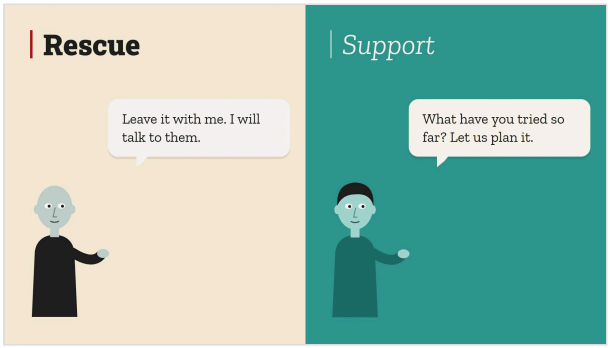

Beat 14 · IfTalk

“Say an employee tells you their manager never gives them any feedback.”

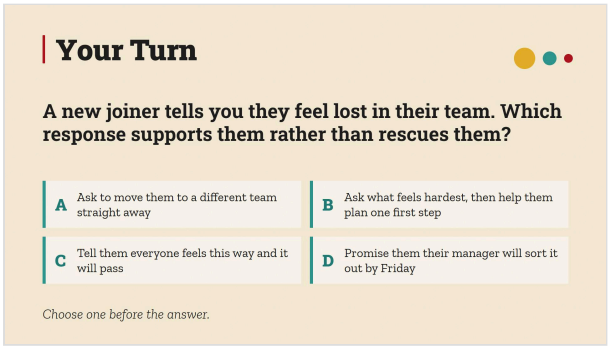

Beat 15 · IfSplit

“A rescuer marches off to talk to the manager on their behalf.”

Beat 16 · IfSplit

“A supporter asks what they have tried, and helps them plan that conversation themselves.”

Beat 17 · quiz

“Now it is your turn: pick the response that supports rather than rescues.”

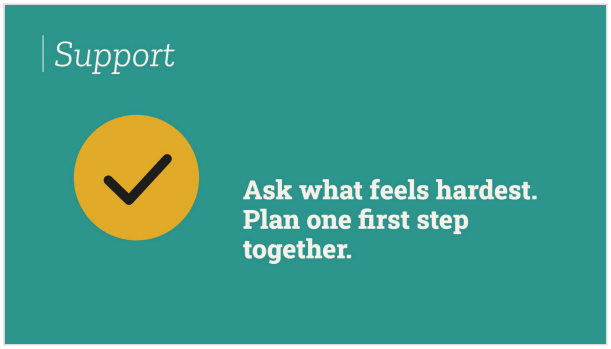

⏸ CHECKPOINT. The video pauses here; the learner must answer to continue

Q: A new joiner tells you they feel lost in their team. Which response supports them rather than rescues them?

A. Ask to move them to a different team straight away
B. Ask what feels hardest, then help them plan one first step ✓
C. Tell them everyone feels this way and it will pass
D. Promise them their manager will sort it out by Friday

If right: Exactly right. Asking what feels hardest keeps the problem theirs and shows you are listening, and planning one first step together helps them act. Next time they will have done it once already.

If wrong: The supporting response is to ask what feels hardest and help them plan one first step. Moving them to a new team is rescuing: you solve the problem for them, and they learn nothing about settling in. Saying everyone feels this way dismisses what they told you, so they stop telling you things. Promising the manager will fix it by Friday is a promise you cannot keep, and it moves the problem onto someone who is not in the room.

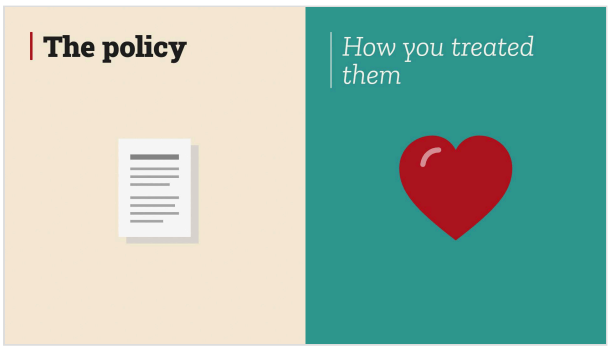

Beat 19 · IfAnswer

"The answer is to ask what feels hardest, and help them plan one first step."

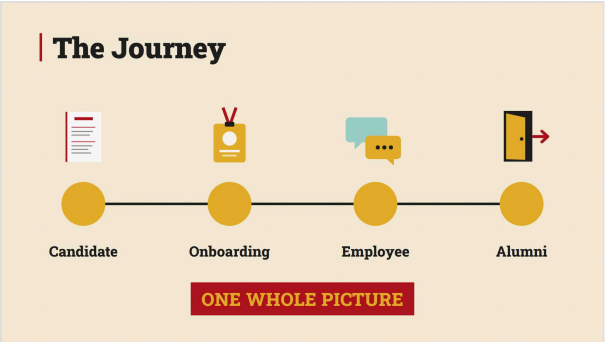

Beat 20 · IfDots

"Every one of these small moments adds up to one big picture."

Beat 21 · IfSplit

"People rarely remember the policy, but they always remember how you treated them."

Beat 22 · IfJourney

“That is how one P&C Buddy shapes how someone sees the whole company.”

Beat 23 · IfRecap

“So know the journey, care and stay fair, and support rather than rescue.”